

Sven Väth (Cocoon / Germany)

If there was anything like an electronic music textbook, Sven Väth would be featured in the "luminaries" section alongside Laurent Garnier, Sasha and Carl Cox. Since his first DJ days at the Dorian Gray club in 1982, Sven has been at the forefront of the techno scene, playing his legendary 10-hour-plus-sets in virtually every country on the planet. It was then a long time coming he finally blesses us in BKK city and Culture One is amazingly proud to see him round up the city unique electronic music festival. Having been through countless mutations of the techno genre, from its trancey days to the hard period until the minimal and housey period we know the style to be in now, Sven captures it like only an omniscient DJ could.
